

Frequently Asked Questions

working with HOBART WEALTH

Who holds my investments?

To provide safeguards for you as our client, we do not take direct custody of our clients' funds. Rather, a custodian is responsible for holding your investments. After we build your individualized financial plan, we may recommend establishing accounts in your name at our custodian, Charles Schwab.* If appropriate for your situation, we may recommend an insurance solution, in which case an insurance company would hold some or all of your funds directly.

Who is responsible for my investments?

We work with you to allocate your funds in alignment with your risk tolerance, goals and income needs. While our team is responsible for financial planning and building/balancing the investment plan, we use both internal and external managers to invest the money according to specific investment styles. Once the money is invested in your accounts, our team continually monitors the performance of those accounts, maintaining regular communication with you about their status.

What sets HW apart?

How long has HW been around?

We also provide stand-alone full financial plans through Hobart Private Capital, for which we charge a flat planning fee. Who do you typically work with?

We try to work with individuals who want to live and retire well, and we partner with people who believe that life is about making the most of every day. We look for like-minded people who share many of our same values, including a commitment to honest and open communication. We also work with business owners who have unique needs related to saving and succession planning.

Who should I contact?

We have an entire team of people ready to serve you. We've included a team flyer in this kit that tells you who to call when you have questions, want to schedule a meeting or need to update your information.
